The Shifting Around In State Positions

GOVERNOR O'CONOR now has to appoint a Republican member of the state tax commission to round out that body in accordance with statutory requirements as the result of the resignation of Harry O. Levin, of Baltimore, as chairman and the appointment of William L. Henderson, deputy attorney general, also of Baltimore, as Levin's successor.

The resignation of Levin, Republican leader and former political adviser to the late Governor Nice, has been puzzling to some, but his explanation will have to be accepted that he is withdrawing for the purpose of giving his attention to his law practice. The appointment of Henderson, a Democrat, was not an unexpected step by the Democratic governor, and so far as can be learned it is satisfactory in Democratic ranks so far as his capabilities are concerned although there may be some factional repercussions about it, as is always the case in such instances.

It may develop that underneath the whole business another adroit political move has been essayed by the governor, whose candidacy for re-election has already been emblazoned in the press without contradiction from him.

Friends of Dr. Thomas W. Koon, of this city, and they are many, are pleased that he was not pushed out in the shifting around and that he stands to the good in it by reason of suffering no reduction in remuneration and getting an

Piecemeal Price Control Is Viewed As Ineffective

From the Pittsburgh Press

If you want to control the price of ham-and- eggs, you'll have to control the price of ham, the price of eggs, the price of fuel, the cook's wages and numerous other elements of cost. That's obvious.

But it's no more obvious than the truth of Bernard M. Baruch's contention that piecemeal control of prices by the government won't work fairly and effectively.

We are hearing a great deal, from Leon Henderson and from others, about the enormous difficulty of administering and enforcing the pricecontrol plan advocated by Mr. Baruch. Under that plan Congress would nail a ceiling over all prices -including farm prices, wages and salaries, and rents-as of a given date. Below the ceiling prices could fluctuate freely, but it would be illegal for them to rise above it except by permission of the government price-control agency.

Difficult To Administer

Well, certainly that would be difficult to administer and enforce But saying that in no way answers the objection to the administration's Price-Control bill, for which Mr. Henderson argues. This bill asks Congress to delegate to Mr. Henderson, or some other agent, authority to select and attempt to control some prices-but not wages and salaries, not rents except to a very limited degree, and not farm prices unless the farmers are guaranteed 110 per cent of parity, meaning a special price advantage over every-

We believe that bill would be im possible to administer and enforce justly-that it would create precisely the inequalities and dislocations that a price-control plan should prevent. We are not impressed by the contention that wages and farm prices will control themselves by other methods, if labor and agriculture are promised that the prices they pay will be controlled by Mr. Henderson. Neither labor nor agriculture has thus far displayed any independent col- felt sure it was not going perma- aged in this course by policies of umnist has any nently haywire on ony question of the government. We point to the recent Gallup Poll report that sixty-two per cent of the wage and salary earners polled were willing to have wages frozen at present levels if prices were also fixed; that fifty-five per cent of the farmers polled were willing that prices of the things they sell should be pegged where they are if the prices of things they buy were also pegged.

Are you considering joining a MILITARY SERVICE?

Why not choose the NAVAL RESERVE!

AN IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

by the Secretary of the Navy

"All men now enlisting in the Naval Reserve will be retained on active Navy duty throughout the period of the national emergency, but they will be released to inactive duty as soon after the emergency as their services can be spared, regardless of the length of time remaining in their enlistment."

THAT THOUSANDS OF MEN HAVE BEEN LOOKING FOR

Here is your opportunity to have all the advantages and privileges of Navy life but with a shorter enlistment.

Many men do not realize-but it is a factthat your pay, your training, and your chances for advancement in the Naval Reserve are exactly the same as in the Navy itself.

FREE TRAINING WORTH $1500

Take your own case. Let's assume that you have had no special training. In that case here is your opportunity to learn one of the Navy's 45 big-pay trades, from aviation engineering to radio. You may receive training worth $1500 the first year alone. In addition you get all the advantages listed in the second column of this announcement.

HIGHER PAY OPPORTUNITIES

But perhaps you have had special training or know a trade. In that case the Naval Reserve offers you the opportunity to use your knowledge. If you qualify (high school or college not necessary), you can join as a petty officer right away-with higher pay and allowances. Also, if you have two or more years of college credits, there are special opportunities to become a Naval aviator or a commissioned officer.

LOOK WHAT THE U.S. NAVAL RESERVE OFFERS YOU

Tommy Mont Shines In Terp Kicking Drill

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 30 (A)-Maryland's football squad, with an eye to Friday night's game with the Western Maryland Green Terrors in Baltimore stadium, polished up both offensive and defensive tactics in practice today.

Terror plays, particularly those of the aerial variety, got a good looking over before the Terps turned to their own attack. Maryland started the session with a longer than usual kicking drill in which Bernie Ulman, Tommy Mont and Jack Brenner all did some effective booting. Both Ulman and Mont got unusually good distance and placed their punts well.

Jack Mier, reserve fullback, the only casualty of the opening game with Hampden-Sydney, was in uni-
